Newsletter – Summer 2009

As we go into summer 2009, it's with much relief that we are now a dust free zone! The new restaurant is completely finished with many customers using it for parties, nights out with friends or traditional Sunday lunches. The old dining room has now become a room for meetings, private dining which we hope the local community will take advantage of this facility which is completely free of charge.

We now have wireless internet which anyone is welcome to use and have extended our range of traditional and local beers.

The bunkrooms are now up and running well along side the other B&B rooms. The garden area is now complete, all we need now is a nice summer.

We are very grateful to everyone for your understanding, the support of our locals and the community while all the work was being done. If anyone has anything they want to advertise, sell or promote we are hoping to have an area in the pub to promote local items.
